Social Media in the Workplace: Potential Employer Liability

Presented By: Lora Jennings

With the use of social media such as Twitter and Facebook becoming more prevalent among both employers and employees, employers are facing increased legal concerns regarding the use and misuse of social media. While social media can create business opportunities for employers, social media can create legal exposure for employers in a variety of areas, from employee privacy to discrimination and harassment.

Lora will cover what steps employers can and should take to manage and navigate the numerous legal issues associated with the use of social media.

Workers Compensation: Changes in the 2011 Kansas Workers Compensation Act

Presented By: Terry Torline

The 2011 Kansas Legislature has enacted major changes to the Kansas Workers Compensation Act that become effective May 15, 2011. One of the major changes directly affects the manner in which injured workers must notify employers after being injured at work. Terry will cover the changes to this Act and offer recommendations to employers on how to comply with these changes.

Immigration: Social Security No Match Letters... They're Back!

Presented By: Rick Thompson

Beginning April 6, 2011, the Social Security Administration (SSA) started issuing "No Match" letters after more than a three-year suspension. Rick will explain how the "No Match" letters may impact employment authorization (I-9 form) compliance, and the consequences the Department of Homeland Security has outlined if employers fail to take steps to deal with those issues.
